

Aurora Mill Rate Up Six Mills Over 1946

Aurora—Taxpayers here will face an increase of six mills in the 1947 tax rate which set a rate of 47 mills on Tuesday night and from which, as in other years, is deducted a provincial subsidy of one mill. Last year the rate was 41 mills, less the provincial subsidy, an increase of one mill over the 1946 mill rate. The new rate is the highest in many years.

Finance chairman councillor Thomas Swindle, in introducing the 1947 budget to council, outlined the reasons for the increased rate. Town auditor Melvin Hillborn's report showed that the 1946 council operated with a deficit of $15,725.13. This amount he termed as largely due to "unforeseen expenditures" included in the amount was the Edward St. extension of $8,587.50; new sewer, $3,396.43; water extension, $1,481.30; new property acquired by the Aurora public school board, $2,350. No debentures were issued by the municipality to cover these extra amounts and they were paid for from general income.

The Edward St. extension cost of $3,143.13 remains to be paid. Further property acquired by the public school board amounts to $3,500 and architect fees of $7,000 must be provided for in the estimates. Extra work laid out and "imperative this year" are repairs to the arena foundation, the George St. extension, water main extensions on Kennedy and Wellington Sts., increased wages to town employees, labor and material cost increases and a "definite increase" in education expenditures. When the 1947 tax bill is received, the ratepayers will have the school board expenses allocated in a separate fund as compared to municipal expenses so that they will know how the money is spent.

The 1947 rate must be based upon the 1946 assessment figures of $1,710,970 and is distributed as follows: public school board, 14.68 mills; education loan to school board, 2 mills; county levy, 4.35 mills; grants and receipts, .052 mills; disposal plant debentures, 2.12 mills; disposal (Page 4, Col. 4)

PROFITS BY SWEEPS

Aurora—Mrs. Jack Babcock, Toronto, the former Jean Stuart, Aurora, is a little over $350 richer as a result of the Irish Sweepstakes. Mrs. Babcock purchased a ticket and was fortunate to draw a starter. Her horse, one of the favorites to win the Grand National, finished 12th.

A replica of the trophy or a suitable award will go to the winner for his permanent possession, while his name will be engraved on the trophy. The trophy will remain in the Aurora school with presentation being made at the annual commencement.

Planning Committee Named To Study Aurora's Needs

Aurora—The new town planning committee of six members, who will serve with remuneration, was struck on Tuesday evening by Aurora council and the new group will convene shortly to appoint a chairman and start the task of providing a planned program for the future for Aurora. The following were named as members: Stewart Mills, Yonge St., civil engineer, a resident of Aurora the past two years and active in board of trade and other community activities; Dr. C. R. Boulding, Wellington St., ex-mayor and councillor, veteran of two world wars, past president of York county musical festival and presently employed as a physician with the department of veterans' affairs;

E. H. "Ernie" Clark, Spruce St., secretary of the Ontario Milk Foundation, prominent in Student's Christian Association movement, superintendent of Aurora United church Sunday school, active in social welfare work; John W. Bowser, internationally known builder and construction authority, owner of Aurora Building Company;

H. M. McKenzie, Yonge St., manager of the Imperial Bank, president of the Aurora board of trade, active in community projects for many years; councillor Charles Davies, chairman of the town planning committee of council and responsible in council for having Aurora created a planning area, painter and decorator, treasurer of Aurora branch, Canadian Legion.

Aurora Church "Adopts" Bombed U.K. Congregation

Aurora—The Church of St. George the Martyr, Queen Square, London, Eng., has been taken under the wing of Trinity Anglican church, Aurora, and members of the Aurora congregation will send a parish shipment of foodstuffs and other necessities monthly to the church members of the St. George church who suffered severely during the bombing of London.

Once a month a White Gift service is planned by the rector, Rev. R. K. Perdue, the first of which starts next Sunday morning. Either foodstuffs or a donation towards the heavy cost involved in forwarding the shipment will be appreciated.

"We owe a debt to the people of England that should not be forgotten," said Mr. Perdue. "They are going through worse times than they did during the war, and I look forward to a fine response for our appeal. The tie-up between the two churches is most interesting and should be mutually beneficial. The idea is entirely our own."

Son Of Early Merchant, Oliver Dales, 72, Dies

Newmarket—Oliver Dales, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Dales, Newmarket, and cousin of Mrs. E. C. Lloyd, Eagle St., died in Florida at the age of 72 on March 27. Jarvis Dales at one time kept store in Newmarket. Oliver Dales was active in the development of the power industry along the Niagara frontier and had an enviable reputation as a man of civic interest. Long a leading figure in border power development, he was chief engineer to the Buffalo, Niagara and Eastern Power Corporation.

Mrs. Walter Collins Caught In U.K. Floods

Newmarket—Walter Collins, whose wife has been in England during the winter, received a copy of the Cambridge Daily News from her with a picture showing the flooding of the house in which Mrs. Collins is staying.

The water is up to the first floor windows and the residents have all moved to the second storey. The issue, dated March 14, carries headlines reporting rising floods and a discussion of the earlier problems of snow removal.

A. A. MACKENZIE

QUEEN'S PARK BUSY CENTRE = MACKENZIE

From Queen's Park, Toronto, where the Ontario legislature is enjoying an Easter recess, A. A. Mackenzie, member for North York, reports that the provincial government is showing every indication of getting "on with the business."

Mr. Mackenzie said that 14 bills were introduced and given their first reading on the day the legislature opened. He continued: "One of the first duties of the legislature is the appointing of the various standing committees and I represented North York on the educational committee; agricultural and colonization committee; fish and wild life committee; municipal law committee."

"These committees are composed of members of all political parties and elect their own chairman. They usually meet in the morning when deputations are received and bills considered and where a great amount of the business of the legislature is really ironed out in order to expedite the work in the chamber where all the members meet. Naturally, as your representative, I attended all the meetings of these committees. At other times I discussed with the various departments of the government affairs of particular interest to our riding which I can assure you is a full-time job when the legislature is in session."

"What is not usually known and appreciated is the fact that all government bills are thoroughly discussed in caucus prior to the bill being presented to the legislature as a whole. At these caucuses every government member is given full latitude in putting forward his views on all (Page 7, Col. 4)

Smith Favors More Help for Aged, Slow Decontrol

Jack E. Smith, North York's member in the federal parliament, has been at his home in Richmond Hill for the Easter recess, which began on April 2. In an interview with The Era and Express on Monday, Mr. Smith said that the control of rents and of prices, and the increase of pensions, especially old-age pensions, have been the two main subjects of debate in this session.

"There is a large body of people and of members who believe that all governmental controls of prices and of rents should be lifted immediately," Mr. Smith said. "These people agree that the move would be accompanied by an immediate rise in prices and in rents, but they argue that prices would, in a relatively short time, come down again and begin to find their usual level."

"The people and the members who oppose this move are in favor of the systematic de-control of prices as the only means of preventing utter chaos. I have always favored the latter policy as the best, and I feel that rent control, especially, must be retained until the housing shortage is eased. Immediate de-control of prices and of rents would be particularly hard on those people who are in the lower income brackets."

Mr. Smith said that the control legislation had not been passed yet, and estimated that its passage would require another three weeks after the session reconvenes.

"The matter of old-age pensions has also been discussed at length," he continued. "No decisions have yet been reached, but I have taken the stand that there should be an increase, and have made this stand known."

"Taxation has been discussed too. We all have our own ideas on the question and have expressed our opinions, but there can be nothing definite done until the budget is brought down early in May. We have been assured that there will most certainly be a reduction in income tax, but increased pensions and greater unemployment will be counteracting forces. It is hoped that the budget will be brought down after the control legislation is passed."

N.H.S. STUDENT WINS HONORS WITH ADDRESS

Newmarket—Mary Lou Little, Newmarket, yesterday took top honors in the girls' competition at the district finals of the Lions International oratorical contest at Pickering College. Merlin Grove, R. R. 2, Markham, took top honors in the young men's section. The two will now advance to the provincial finals to be held at a later date. All contestants spoke on the subject, Is Canada Yet A Nation?

Miss Little defined the word "nation" as "the body of inhabitants of a country united under a single government, whether dependent or independent, a people united politically." She maintained that Canada was not tied to Great Britain's apron strings. "Our ties with Great Britain are ones of affection and co-operation," she said. She outlined the process through which Canada gradually became recognized, and the form of the government of Canada as it exists today.

"We have a governor-general, a representative of the crown, presiding in Canada, but this in no way takes from Canada its prestige as a nation," she said. "He is appointed on the advice of the Canadian government, and his appointment can be rescinded at any time."

Miss Little said that Canada has a constitution favorable to any other nation in the world, namely the British North American Act and the Statute of Westminster. "Under the B.N.A. Act, Canada grew until she gained complete control of her own affairs," she said. "We are aware that our constitution regulates two forms of government, the provincial and the federal governments, but underlying these governments is a national spirit of co-operation, which unites the Canadian peoples."

Lower Voting Age
She said that our present form of government is truly democratic, but she recommended that the voting age be lowered to 18 years. She said that Canada's national status had been raised recently with the provision allowing her to set up her own courts of appeal. She outlined the part that Canada had played in the recent war, and said that "Canada made a major contribution in the development of the atomic bomb."

She maintained that Canada's peace-time defenses should be kept at a par with other nations. "Canada must be prepared to help guard world peace," she said.

More Immigration
Miss Little said that Canada's population was inadequate for its size and resources and recommended a broader immigration policy. She also recommended the extension of the child bonus to cover any children, whether over 16 years of age or not, who are financially dependent because of education or other reasons and the extension of the old age pension to include everyone over 65.

Merlin R. Grove, Markham, outlined several of the pros and cons of the controversial question and concluded that Canada is a nation. "It needs no physician to tell us that within the provincial boundaries of our fair dominion exist several internal ulcers that eat into the pleasures of a peace-loving nation," Mr. Grove said. He cited Quebec and Saskatchewan as specific examples.

"You hear much of Canada's natural resources," he continued. "Truly a kindly destiny has lavished them upon us. Yet they are developed with a discouraging (Page 7, Col. 5)

On his return from Jamaica, he served with the navy until the end of the war.

Dr. Bartholomew is opening his office at the corner of Main and Water Sts. and will start accepting appointments for patients this week.

'IS INCREDIBLE' MAYOR TERMS VOTE RESULT

Newmarket—"It seems incredible to me that when the industries and industrial life offer to give at least $57,500 to the town, there are 265 people who say they don't want the money," said Mayor Joseph Vale commenting on the vote of Monday.

The property owners of Newmarket voted Monday on the question: "Are you in favor of the acquisition of property and the erection thereon of a municipal auditorium as a war memorial, and the issuance of debentures to pay the costs of land and building?"

Before the vote, the industries of Newmarket had guaranteed to cost of $115,000 of the building. Three hundred and two voters favored the proposal, 265 against it.

The full text of the mayor's statement: "Out of a possible 1,400 property-owners who could vote on this question, only 567 marked their ballots, 302 favoring the proposal, 265 against it. It seems incredible to me that the industries and industrial life offer to give at least $57,500 to the town, there are 265 people who say they don't want the money."

"The voters' decision will now be brought before the town council at its forthcoming meeting Tuesday, April 15, to decide further action."

REV. A. B. STEIN LEAVES FOR NIAGARA CHARGE

No 'flu Danger Yet-M.O.H.'s Advise Lots of Sun, Soap

Lots of sunshine, fresh air, and cleanliness—that's what the medical health officers of Aurora and Newmarket recommend to avoid those wearisome influenza germs. Dr. L. W. Dales, Newmarket, and Dr. G. W. Williams, Aurora, are both satisfied that there is no immediate danger of an epidemic of "flu" and are quick to reassure anxious mothers that their off-spring are in no greater danger this year than any other year.

"I don't know of any cases here, at present, and there certainly have been no more than in any other years," Dr. Williams said. "It's possible that some flu may come in from another area, in which case it might be a good idea to keep out of crowds, but there is certainly none of any consequence now."

37 Majority Favors Memorial Proposal

On Monday the tax payers of Newmarket answered "yes" to the town council's plebiscite on the question: "Are you in favor of the acquisition of property and the construction thereon of a municipal auditorium as a war memorial and for the issue of debentures for the payment of the costs to the town thereof?" by a majority of 37 votes. The total results were 302 in favor of the proposal, 265 against. A 37.4 percent vote was recorded by the town.

By wards the vote, for and against, was St. Andrew's, 128 and 96; St. George's, 98 and 98; and St. Patrick's 76 and 71. The project was not rejected in any of the three wards.

The heaviest vote was recorded in St. Andrew's ward where 224 of approximately 503 eligible voters cast their ballots. Another interesting fact is that St. Andrew's, which contained the intended site for the proposed new building, was the ward in which the vote was really decided.

In St. George's ward there were 98 ballots cast in favor of the proposal and 98 against, while in St. Patrick's the majority was only five votes. In St. Andrew's there was a majority of 31 votes.

In comparison with the approximate 44.5 percent vote recorded in St. Andrew's ward, an approximate 37.4 percent vote was recorded in St. George's and an approximate 36.6 percent vote in St. Patrick's. Eligible voters in the latter two wards numbered approximately 565 and 402 respectively.

"Those figures are only approximate because, as usual, a number of eligible voters turned up at the polls whose names were not on the list beforehand, in spite of the fact that advertisements were run in the newspaper for three weeks requesting people to make sure their names were on the lists," town clerk Wesley Brooks said.

Expect Ton Price of $18 for Coal as Ceiling Off

MUSIC CLUB SINGS TO AUDIENCE OF 900

Newmarket—Trinity United church was filled by an estimated 900 listeners as the Newmarket Music Society sang Stainer's Crucifixion and Handel's Hallelujah on Good Friday evening.

The 55-voice chorus was under the direction of Isba Goodman, and Herman G. Fowler, Mus. Bac., organist of Trinity United church, was the accompanist. Soloists were Ralph McCann and Terry Doane.

This is the second appearance of the society whose members sing for "the fun of it," the first being a concert, Songs of the Nations, at the Newmarket high school some weeks ago. See picture on page 3.

Clarence Davis, of B. F. Davis and Son, Aurora, said, "We have to increase the price to at least $18 a ton to retain our margin. The margin was figured on the basis of 1941 costs, and this increase will make no allowance for increased operating costs since that time. Wages and garage bills have gone up as well as the prices of gasoline and tires."

In his statement, Mr. Craig said that upon his retirement from the exchange he would devote his energies to the development and distribution of Canadian hard coal from Alberta, which he described as equal in quality to high-grade American anthracite. He said that the price of the Alberta coal would be $4 to $5 less than the price that would be paid for American anthracite this year. He condemned the present method of coal distribution throughout Ontario, which he described as antiquated, as well as the reluctant attitude of wholesale and retail dealers toward the idea of reducing their dependence upon "uncertain foreign (U.S.A.) sources of supply."

He expressed the opinion that the average ash content of the American anthracite that is being shipped to Ontario is approximately 20 percent and that much of the "so called" American anthracite had an ash content approaching 30 (Page 4, Col. 7)

VOTE RESULT SHOWS PUBLIC RESENTMENT

The 37-vote majority at the polls on Monday is a clear indication of the resentment felt by the rate-payers towards the manner in which the memorial project was presented to them by the Newmarket town council. It is a resounding condemnation of the puss-in-the-corner technique employed by the council as a substitute to regular procedure.

The small majority, which could have been so large had the issue been properly handled, does not constitute a rejection of the principle, that of providing a yearly war memorial. The town council will sadly err to think it does; to make the voters' decision an excuse to do nothing for the next 20 years.

The members of council can yet redeem their mistake by throwing open to public consideration the issues involved in the project, the issues which were played down during the pre-vote period. They can hold public hearings of the views of interested organizations. They can undertake a survey of allied projects such as the need to relieve the congestion on Main St., the provision of a new firehall, the renovation of other public buildings, the provision of more recreational facilities.

The council has had before it since the report of the property committee, a recommendation from that committee that a planning commission be set up to consider those needs and how they best be met. Had the council observed that recommendation in the first place, or even followed regular council procedure which would have permitted a thorough discussion of the question before it was put to the voters, there would not have been this fiasco.

The council has these alternatives: it can consider the vote sufficiently indefinite to warrant no action and thus become a "do nothing" council; or it can accept the rebuke of the citizens and start afresh with the knowledge that the citizens will support it as long as there is no doubt of the advantages of its actions to Newmarket.

FLEXIBLE CONSTITUTION NEEDED IN CANADA

Mr. Wilfred Adams, respected history teacher at Aurora high school, tackled a difficult subject last week when he spoke on dominion-provincial relations before the Aurora Lions club. The tangled course of recent conferences has left most of us somewhat in the air over the exact issues. Mr. Adams has helped clarify them.

Mr. Adams attributes the failure of the conferences to the provincial fears of too much federal centralization. "The conference was killed by the hammer of provincial rights upon the anvil of centralization fears," he says in a neat turn of phrase. And he calls it a national calamity that there has been no agreement. "Surely we can find the charity and the will and the vision which will make possible a just and generous settlement of our differences," he declares.

The British North America Act of 1867 outlines the authority of the provincial and federal parliaments, specifically in some instances, and somewhat vaguely in others. For example, the concluding paragraph of section 92, which defines the authority of provincial parliaments, reads "Generally all matters of merely local or private nature in the province" shall be under provincial authority.

In practice, the B.N.A. Act has provided that in matters affecting all the people of Canada, the federal government shall have authority; in local matters, the provincial governments. With such a loose dividing line between legislative authority, there is bound to be conflict of federal and provincial rights. On the provincial side, fear of centralized power in Ottawa with a corresponding loss of authority; on the federal side, the advantages of uniform legislation and a larger field of taxation.

This conflict is deplored by many because of the advantage taken of it in the name of party politics. They would have a black and white dividing line which would establish for all time the exact authority of the two governing bodies, provincial and federal. Against this, it must be argued that the present flexibility of the constitution has enabled adjustment to changing times and the problems of a growing nation. In a country of such variety and conflict of interests, any rigid definition of authority would serve only as a straight jacket on progress.

It must be remembered, however, that this flexibility of authority can only serve Canada in the direct measure that the bargaining governments lay aside political advantages in favor of the interests of the nation as a whole.

COAL STRIKE ONLY PART OF PROBLEM

Reports were current at the weekend that the federal government was abandoning its aloofness towards the coal strike in Cape Breton. The minister of reconstruction, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, is reported to have said that the government is prepared to consider further subsidies to the Dominion Coal Company, coupled with production guarantees, to enable the company to meet the miners' wage demands.

The cause of the strike is simple. The miners seek a higher wage, but the company says that it is impossible to pay increases unless production is improved. Further government subsidies seem to be the accepted answer to the problem. Inasmuch as the government paid this one company a total of $12 million in subsidies in 1946, the question of how long must the government continue to assist this representative of "free" enterprise becomes of pressing importance.

Coal is fundamental to Canada's increasing industrial economy, yet its production violates every rule of free enterprise operation. There has been little, if any, change in actual mining operations. Where other industries have developed new techniques, the mining of coal has continued along the same lines as 50 years ago. Where other industries have increased production and reduced costs, coal production is at about the same level or less than what it was 20 years ago, and costs have gone up. Where forward looking industries have developed their relations with their employees, there is no unity of purpose between miners and operators. The pit-heads still retain their bleak surroundings with miners' communities among the most backward areas in Canada.

Canada Year Book statistics tell the story best. In 1926, Canada mined 16 million short tons of coal; in 1945, approximately the same tonnage. Between 1926 and 1945, production ranged between 11 and 18 million tons annually. During the same period, however, coal imports jumped from 16 million tons to 25 million tons, going as high as 28 million tons in the early 1940's. At the same time, exports dropped from 1.1 million tons in 1926 to 840,708 tons in 1945, with a low of 259,233 tons in 1932.

In 1926, coal consumption in Canada was 31 million tons of which 52.3 percent was imported. In 1944, consumption in Canada was 43 million tons of which 64.3 percent was imported. The Year Book puts it neatly when it says: "The fuel situation in Canada is somewhat anomalous as, in spite of enormous resources . . . output is relatively small in comparison with domestic requirements."

Government subsidies may answer the present need of greater revenue for the coal mines but at the best, they can only be a temporary measure. The taxpayer cannot be asked to support indefinitely an industry which, with unlimited opportunity, continues its anachronistic practices to its own disadvantage and that of the country in general. If the mine operators are not interested in improvement, government subsidies might be better spent by the government in research and improvement of coal mining, or alternatively, the government might nationalize the mines and bring about the improvements itself.

UNFAVORABLE BALANCE OF TRADE GROWS

Some weeks ago, we expressed concern at the unfavorable trade balance with the United States, a condition caused by heavy imports from the United States and a corresponding lack of exports, and the present Canadian policy of heavy exports to Great Britain on credit while paying cash for imports. Two recent news items are additional evidence of the seriousness of the situation.

Last Thursday, it was reported from Ottawa that imports from the United States had taken another very substantial jump in the first quarter of this year over the previous peak of 1946. Earlier, it was reported from New York that the value of the Canadian dollar on the free market had dropped to the low 90's. Rumors of the devaluation of the Canadian dollar as a means of easing the unfavorable trade balance with the United States was cited as the cause of this drop. There has been no official statement regarding devaluation but the rumors persist as the unfavorable trade balance grows. It will continue to grow as Canada's imports from the U.S. replace imports from Britain. One such instance is found in cotton.

According to an article in Foreign Trade, a publication of the trade and commerce department, imports of cotton from United States for the last quarter of 1946 was three times the 1939 average, and the total for the year was double the 1939 figure. These United States imports have replaced British cotton, adding to the difficulty of Britain's retirement of its Canadian credits, as well as contributing to the unfavorable balance of Canadian trade with United States.

Britain needs Canadian credits and Canada needs the British markets. At the same time, Canada must seek a more favorable balance with the United States. In a very real sense, Canada is caught between the need to export and credit commitments, and the heavy demand for United States goods. One possible answer is the diversion of Britain's credits in U.S. towards retirement of Canada's unfavorable balances. Certainly, Canada is rapidly approaching the danger point in her foreign exchange.

LETTERS TO EDITOR ALWAYS WELCOME

Some weeks ago, we published a letter protesting the continued embargo against oleomargarine in Canada at a time when there was not sufficient butter to meet present needs. The letter also argued that the farmers, who more than any other group of people have fought monopolies, were guilty of maintaining a monopoly themselves.

The following week, we wrote an editorial taking the same general stand that our previous week's correspondent had. In the subsequent weeks, we have received several letters of disagreement with our editorial position. The letters cited a considerable range of arguments in favor of continuing the embargo.

Last week, we printed a final letter from the York County Federation of Agriculture, protesting the editorial, and coming simultaneously with news of the defeat in the senate of an attempt to have the embargo against oleomargarine lifted. Unless further legislative action is contemplated, it appears that it is now a dead issue for the time being at least.

We have enjoyed the discussion, and we think our readers will agree that the interchange of arguments has been beneficial in that it has restated the two sides of this important public issue. That is what the editorial columns of a newspaper are for. They are not a means to force the editor's opinions upon the reading public, but are a medium for public discussion, a forum for community interchange of ideas.

Letters to The Era and Express are valued by the editor because they assure the placing of the two sides in any public issue before the public. As is said throughout the paper, "letters to the editor are always welcome." Use the "letters" column. It is yours for the expression of your opinions.

THE COMMON ROUND
By KAREL INGLIS COLVILLE

SPRING AND EASTER

Everywhere life is flowing in to the trees and shrubs which for months have stood stark and inanimate about us. There is a pulse of returning life in the very air; there is the flash of wings and the welcome sound of bird chatter as the prospective fathers of bird families discuss and, I am afraid, quarrel over the most eligible sites for suitable homes.

On the farms around us there are baby chicks and lambs and red and fawn and black and white calves, announcing with baa's and chirps and bawls that they and spring have arrived simultaneously.

Everything except the blessed sunshine is drab and dirty but there is, through all the drabness, the promise of beauty and glow of spring.

We may say "it seems as if spring would never come", but in our hearts we know it will. How can anyone doubt who has watched the seeds spring into life and beauty and usefulness when God and nature calls them to fulfill their destiny.

And looking at those wonders, how can people doubt the resurrection?

Can they imagine that all the wonder and the overflowing life which could heal by a touch and give hope for eternity by a word, all the love which could give itself so freely, be held by the bonds of death?

Love, I suppose, is the one thing in the universe which cannot die.

This year, when in every part of the world discontent, want, hatred and violence are rife, the significance of Easter seems to glow like a great light house across a tempestuous sea.

The foreign ministers council in Moscow, the security council meeting in New York; all the diplomacy of skilled statesmen seem to have failed to find solutions to the world's problems.

The land where Christ rose from the dead on that sunlit, flower-decked, first Easter morn is in as violent rebellion against the British as it was against Rome under Pilate. Then, too, its underground forces were at work. And yet, from that land, rent by internal strife, Jew against Jew and all Jews against Rome, went forth the message of love and forgiveness and of the triumphant resurrection that hate can be conquered by love and that life and love are immortal.

Surely the lesson of this Easter season is that no matter how long our souls lie dormant, they can and will awaken and live into eternity if we listen to Christ as he says, "I am the resurrection and the life", and we know that our Redeemer liveth.

Through the days following Easter Christ walked and talked with men. He still does if we find time to listen.

Young Hopefuls
By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Herbie and Wilbur are twins under five years of age. Herbie is the husky, admired type and is thriving on the complimentary attention he receives. Wilbur is small and puny by comparison and seems to be getting punier as a result of the concern over his physique.

Wilbur definitely needs a different type of handling. His whole being would blossom forth if, instead of worry and concern over his physique, attention were given towards uncovering some of his hidden aptitudes. He needs some things to be proud of to establish himself as an acceptable individual. It is to be hoped that he is well established as an individual with some recognized virtues before he enters school. Otherwise, he'll probably spend some painful years outgrowing the title of "Herbie's twin brother."

It's quite unfair to make comparisons between any two children, and even more unfair to compare members of the same family. However, making comparisons is such a natural thing to do that it will probably continue to be the handiest form of conversation despite the injustice it inflicts on those concerned.

Each Child Individual

Each child is an individual and must be treated as such if he is to develop to the extent of his capacities. Everyone thrives on approval and there are some things about everyone that merit approval. Look for those admirable qualities and strengthen them with your approval. Not only will the existing good qualities be strengthened, but general improved development in other qualities will result—seeking approval.

Children aren't mentally mature enough to have the strength of their own convictions to carry them forward in the right direction when approval of their actions is totally lacking. Disapproval either carries children further in the wrong direction or stunts their normal development. Constructive criticism is valuable but isn't effective when meted out to young children. Children are too apt to interpret the criticism as disapproval and be offended by it.

In the home, comparisons can and must be omitted. In the home, a great deal can be done to counteract those seemingly unavoidable comparisons friends, neighbors and relatives continue to make. In the home, there are ideal opportunities to discover and uncover many, many good qualities and aptitudes within the family circle. The simple practice of looking for the good in everyone would make life happier and more meaningful for everyone.

Newmarket Artists' Merit Brings Them Recognition

Newmarket artists have been spreading their fame outside the limits of their home town. W. J. Hopkinson, Prospect St., has his "Northern Solitude" hanging in the Toronto Art Gallery on the occasion of the O.S.A. 75th anniversary exhibition.

Fred. Hagan, Court St., who is teaching at Pickering College and in Toronto, also has a picture in the show, "Fishing," done in the modern manner. It is an honor to exhibit with the O.S.A., particularly on their 75th anniversary.

You may or may not like cocktail bars, but you will like the murals painted in one on Yonge St. in Toronto, the Rosticaria, by Jim McHale, born and raised in Newmarket. Here is what the Hotel Review says of Jim's work: "To make their establishment more eye-appealing, the owners employed one of the city's best known painters to do a series of murals. He was Jim McHale who was given a free hand in depicting his scenes, and he has fulfilled the wants of owners, they say."

"Although pleased with all the murals, they are particularly happy about the large mural, 22' x 10', facing the customers on the mezzanine. It took McHale more than three weeks to complete his masterpiece."

Jim McHale at one time drew cartoons for the Newmarket Era. In another field, Rudy Rensius, well known Newmarket craftsman and teacher at Pickering College, has had three booklets of particular interest to craftsmen published by Macmillan. They are titled Built-Up Wood Carvings, Hammered Silver Flat Ware, and Wrought Iron Without A Forge. The books tell how the craftsman may work in these three mediums, are inexpensive, and should be in the library of every home hobbyist.

Three full lines to choose from all offering.

Oldsmobile Series "98" 4-Door Sedan

Oldsmobile Series "76" (or "78") Club Sedan

Oldsmobile Series "66" (or "68") 4-Door Sedan

The 1947 Oldsmobile is smart in more ways than one. Smart styling . . . certainly. But it's a smart investment, too. An investment in the dependability and quality for which the Oldsmobile name is famous. An investment in the riding comfort of Quadri-Coil Springing and 4-Way Stabilization. An investment in the matchless driving ease of GM Hydra-Matic Drive—the only drive that shifts gears automatically and eliminates the clutch pedal entirely. Choose the low-priced Oldsmobile "66" (either a six or an eight)—or the popular-priced "70" (also with a choice of engines)—or the luxurious "98" Custom Cruiser. Whichever it is . . . you'll be making a smart choice!

The demand for new cars is still so great that it may be some time before you take the wheel of your new Oldsmobile. Make sure your present car keeps rolling. The better its condition, the safer you are . . . and the higher its potential trade-in value.

Protest Millard Editorials

The Editor: Your right to criticize the utterances of public men, important or otherwise, and to express any opinion you choose is freely conceded. Your right to distort publicly-expressed opinions and to make statements that are in direct contradiction to the facts is challenged.

I find it difficult to believe that the weekly newspaper that used to enjoy such an enviable reputation for fair play, fair criticism and intelligent comment upon matters of public interest could resort to publishing such examples of confused, illogical and irresponsible journalism as your series of editorials relating to the recent Newmarket address of Chas. H. Millard. Would it be unfair to assume that the very evident change of policy and the elimination of the name Andrew Olding Hebb from your masthead is no mere coincidence?

Time and your space limitations will permit me to answer only two or three of the contentions expressed in the editorials. For the rest, I would ask that your readers refer to the published account of Mr. Millard's address (issue of March 13, and, incidentally, a very satisfactory report), read the three editorials (issue of March 20, 27 and April 3) and then draw their own conclusions.

In your first editorial you dogmatically state that "if Canadians follow Mr. Millard's advice there won't be any democracy". You offer no argument in support of your contention but blithely pass on to another phase of Mr. Millard's address. Now, what was Mr. Millard's advice? Merely that, if democracy is to be preserved and strengthened, the people who believe in democracy, both economic and political, must organize to combat the enemies of democracy. Surely you will not deny that democracy has enemies and that those enemies are strongly and powerfully organized. You cannot have forgotten Trestrail's "Social Suicide" and the millions of dollars that were expended to flood Canada with a masterpiece of vicious, unscrupulous and degrading propaganda which would have done justice to Hitler's machine at its best (or worst).

Would you suggest that it would have been possible for the democratic countries of the world to have beaten the highly-organized totalitarian states without themselves resorting to organization on a national and international basis? I know you would not. Why, then, suggest that the people of Canada should place their faith in miracles or trustingly believe that democracy will be tenderly nurtured and preserved for them by the highly-organized gentlemen of Wall St., St. James St. and Bay St.?

You seem to imagine that, if farmers' and industrial workers' organizations, such as co-operatives, agricultural federations and trade unions decided to enter the political field, their candidate or candidates would be chosen by someone at the top and that the members would flock to the polls en bloc and vote as directed.

If democracy is to be preserved by organization, then democracy must be practised in and by the organizations themselves. This would mean that the candidate or candidates would be chosen by the members through the exercise of their franchise within their organizations. Those to whom the choice of candidate was not satisfactory would still be free to cast their ballots in the municipal or parliamentary election in any way they chose. The secret ballot ensures them that right.

One last paragraph: In the second editorial (March 27) you say, in references to the United Steelworkers' Union, "the recent strike by that union was conducted in complete defiance of the law". Again you offer nothing to bolster your contention. I can be as dogmatic as you and I say that your statement is untrue. Put up or back up, Mr. Editor. Write another editorial to prove your point—if you can.

A. H. Woods,
President,
York North C.C.F. Association.

The editor: I have read with interest your series of editorials relating to the address of C. H. Millard at his opening meeting held in Newmarket some weeks ago. May I say that these editorials have caused me no little concern, for I have regarded your paper as one of Ontario's best local weeklies (and I have had occasion to read quite a number of them). I have enjoyed your editorial page and have often admired the progressive attitude you have adopted toward all matters of local improvement. It is therefore with some dismay that I have read the three editorials mentioned and note that little or nothing is said about the many significant facts of Mr. Millard's address but rather a misleading criticism of his theme.

It seems necessary to point out that when Mr. Millard urged organizations, it was a plea for organizations of little men to combat hydra-headed cartels that have their roots not only in Montreal and Toronto, but in New York, Chicago, Pittsburg, London, Paris, Berlin, Rome and Tokio. Your protest acknowledges abuses of democracy, but inveighs against the only means of countering those abuses. To follow your cue, a little further, one may suppose that a disorganized rabble is stronger than a powerful, well organized army. If I am mistaken in this supposition, I am sorry, but you have argued for an enlightened citizenry, yet frown on an organized effort. Such a situation is completely untenable and being a member of one of these organizations, I feel rather strongly about it.

Co-operatives were included among the desirable organizations that Mr. Millard would like to see extended. As he defined them they constitute an organization that worked at and practised democracy. As you, Mr. Editor, have not excluded them,

I presume that they, too, have fallen under the editorial pen of condemnation. It is in this respect that I would reply to your editorials.

Co-operatives are an example of democracy in business. Membership is open to anyone. One member, one vote. Capital is paid a fixed rate of interest. The members, in meetings publicly called, elect their board of directors and working committees. The members either choose their delegates to provincial meetings or vest the board of directors with power to do so.

The co-operative is neutral in race, religion and politics. Its members may be black or white racially or red or white politically. No effort is made to coerce them nor how could there be? The members control. Is there in this any potential danger of infringing on the individuals' choice? The suggestion seems ridiculous.

Economic Freedom?

On the other hand, who is there today who will contend that the individual is economically free? If anyone is so foolish as to suppose that present day capitalism offers to the "entrepreneur" limitless possibilities, let him read the MacGregor Report on cartels or any account of recent investigations of cartels and he will realize that these so-called champions of free enterprise are determined to crush any and every business that is even a potential competitor. History is replete with examples. Their motto has been "absorb or eliminate". Consider the oil empires, the international tension which develops in the near east if their dollar-bought rights are challenged. Consider also the human parish that grows fat on the dividends of these monopolies. As an example of what exorbitant profits have been made in this industry, it is interesting to note that the co-operatives in the southern states challenged the big oil companies and after months of bitter struggle and sacrifice established their own refinery and secured ownership of some wells. Last year, in a few months of operation they made a profit of four million dollars which was returned to the consumer. This was an organization of little men.

We could go on and say much more but to those who see in co-operative organizations a menace to democracy, we can point with a proud finger to practically every so-called democratic country and see there, strong, well-developed co-operatives working to make democracy more effective; Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Great Britain, New Zealand and not least, that notable work among the poverty-stricken miners and fishermen of Nova Scotia.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I would like to add a personal note.

From September, 1939, to September, 1945, I spent in the armed services with the belief that we were trying to preserve something which could be improved. Five of those years were spent overseas and a good part of that time in a land where democracy is only a name and where trade unions, farmers' organizations and co-operatives are suppressed. Upon my discharge, I began looking around for some means of earning my living that would at the same time contribute to economic and social improvement. I saw in co-operatives a means of doing exactly that. In fact I venture to say that before long they will be regarded far and wide as one of the most stabilizing and democratic factors of our economy.

Harold D. Ghent,
Manager,
Newmarket District
Co-operative.

The North York GARDENER

By JOHN DALY
Vice President, Newmarket Horticultural Society

Last week I proposed saying something regarding the preparation of the soil and I find myself wondering where to start. There is so much to be said on this subject and circumstances are so varied.

Those of you who have little or nothing growing in your garden or flower bed are in the best position to do this job correctly and I shall talk to you first.

At the end of your garden or flower bed dig a trench 18" wide and about the same in depth. Take the soil from this to the other end of your garden and pile it there temporarily.

If you can obtain manure put a layer of it on the bottom of the trench. Then dig the next 18" using the soil from this to fill the first trench. This will leave another trench. Proceed in this way until you reach the other end of the garden. There the soil from the first trench can be used to fill the last one.

Enrich Soil

If manure is not available (and it is difficult to obtain these days,) be careful to enrich the soil in some other way. If you have turf on the surface this should be turned upside down and placed on the bottom of the trenches. Fortified with some organic fertilizer, such as sheep manure, bone meal or blood and bone, this will take the place of manure. These organic fertilizers become solvent very slowly and are therefore available to the plants for a long time. Do not use chemical or inorganic fertilizers (as they are called) at this time. They become solvent very quickly and drain away before the plant roots can reach the fertilizer. Your money is wasted!

Later, they are invaluable and I shall say something about them as the season progresses.

You who have too many perennial plants growing to follow this method of turning over your soil can however, get your soil into condition by adding nutrients to it from time to time. I feel the best method is the compost pile. Why I think so and how to make one will form the subject for next week's column.

Before leaving you again I want to repeat my invitation to all flower lovers to join their local horticultural societies. All these societies are anxious to beautify the communities where they function and your place is in their active membership.

Aurora Town Workers Receive Pay Raises

Aurora — A revision of the wages of police and street committee employees was approved by Aurora council on Tuesday. Police raises of $5 a week were granted to Chief Constable Fisher Dunham and Constable William Langman. Chief Dunham now receives $38.50 per week, and Constable Langman $35.

Town foreman James Goulding's salary of $35 a week remains unchanged at this time. Engaged at 70 cents an hour were William Summers and John Bak. All three men work a 44-hour week, but are on call seven days a week and 24 hours a day. James Peters will receive 55 cents an hour, and Melvin Robinson 45 cents an hour. Alex Higgins, waterworks caretaker, will receive $25 a week. He also receives free rental. All pay increases were made retroactive to Jan. 1, 1947.

SEEK MORE APPLICANTS

Aurora — Further applications will be sought for the position of town assessor and the scope of advertising will be widened. When applications closed on Saturday, there were three applicants, and council members, without passing any comment, thought more names might be considered if further time and publicity were given the matter. New advertisements run this week.

LEGION ADOPTS SCOUTS

Aurora — Aurora Branch 385, Canadian Legion, approved at a general meeting on Tuesday the sponsoring of the 1st Aurora Boy Scout troop, Aurora Girl Guides and Wolf Cub pack. Robert Hodgkinson was named chairman of the Legion Scout committee and one or two others will be named to the committee. The present Scout committee has done a splendid job with the Scouts, but in view of changing personnel and the retirement of several members, the Canadian Legion was approached to lend its support. The motion approving the plan was passed unanimously.

AURORA MILL-RATE

plant, 0.68 mills; administrative expenses, 3.54 mills; office expenses, .058 mills; insurance, 0.26 mills; police and fire, 3.36 mills; upkeep of buildings, 1.42 mills; relief and indigents, 0.35 mills; street lighting, 1.75 mills; streets, new developments and oiling, 8.03 mills; garbage collection, 1.28 mills; sewers, 1.69 mills; sundry, 0.56 mills. The properties already affected by local improvement debentures will pay the usual rate levied.

"We have kept things to a minimum," said Councillor Swindle, "but we must recognize those unexpected expenditures of 1946."

Originally it had been intended to add one mill for town planning purposes but council did not include any amount for this purpose in view of the heavy increase.

Councillor Swindle said that an additional mill was expected from Ontario as a road subsidy, fines should be higher, town properties rented would show an increase as possible sources of extra revenue. He stressed a drive for tax arrears.

With only two tenders received for the building of Aurora public school and the prices higher than the board had anticipated, there is no likelihood that the project will be started in 1947. The school board will wait for a more opportune time before proceeding, although every avenue is being explored to expedite matters, council learned.

"What would our tax rate have been if we had to provide for a school being built this year?" asked Councillor J. E. Sisman.

"It would look like another seven or eight mills," said the mayor. "We are fortunate that it doesn't have to be included in 1947."

JRS. NAME DELEGATES TO GUELPH MEETING

Sharon — The Sharon Junior Farmers met April 3 in Sharon Hall where they heard Rev. Henry Cotton, rector of Trinity United church, Newmarket, speak on "Our Canada." Keith Walton, new president, was in the chair. The meeting decided that Art. Hall and Bernice Ramsay would represent Sharon at the forthcoming Guelph conference.

OTTAWA LETTER

by
"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

(Held from last week)

The political event of the week was the important by-election in Cartier riding Monday. The voting was necessary to fill the seat in the Commons made vacant when Fred. Rose, Communist, was sentenced to a six-year jail term for his part in the Russian espionage case. Maurice Hart, the Liberal candidate, won an impressive victory in a contest which was made very difficult by the entry of several candidates. Many experienced observers feared that this splitting of the anti-Communist vote might prove disastrous. However the people of Cartier spoke decisively Monday and to their everlasting credit they refused to place their stamp of approval on the traitorous deeds of Communist Fred. Rose.

Cartier is a difficult riding for political campaigning, and the Hart victory is a tribute to efficient organization. It is a traditionally Jewish riding and was for many years represented by Sam Jacobs, a distinguished Jew and a great Canadian. After Jacobs' death the riding was represented for five years by another Jew, a Liberal, Peter Bercoff. By 1943 there was a considerable change in population in Cartier. What had been an overwhelmingly Jewish riding became more and more French-speaking. The boundaries of the riding take in what might be described as a poor part of Montreal and into the poor tenement district came many central Europeans. Fred. Rose won by a small margin in 1943 and again in 1945. This riding, roughly 40 percent Jewish, 40 percent French-speaking, and 20 percent mixed extraction, was a tough spot to stage a fight against the highly organized, highly financed Communist party. The result of Monday's election will be received with satisfaction by all good Canadians everywhere.

Prime Minister King has gone south for a much needed and well earned holiday. In his absence Rt. Hon. L. R. St. Laurent, the able minister for external affairs, will be acting prime minister.

The bill giving the government powers necessary to maintain certain controls for a period of time to assure orderly decontrol has provoked a lot of argument but little real opposition. The government has declared for a policy of retaining certain controls for a limited period in the public interest and there are few who will say such a policy is not in the best interests of Canada. On a division on the resolution only six members voted against it.

Finance Minister Abbott will bring down his first budget probably early in May, and legislation amending the Old Age Pension Act will be introduced as soon as possible.

Legislation of Canada manufacture, sale or importation of oleomargarine was rejected by the Senate by 32 to 22 votes this week. This compared with a 44 to 20 vote when a similar bill was defeated by the Senate last year.

The highly controversial oleomargarine question, which has agitated the Senate, and, also, many members of the House of Commons, since the session began on Jan. 31, drew only a two-thirds vote of the 91 members of the Red Chamber where five vacancies have existed for some considerable time.

The division which killed the oleomargarine bill cut across party lines. I received many representations in opposition to this Bill, although it never reached the Commons. The York County Federation of Agriculture has gone on record as opposing it and forwarded resolutions to this effect.

The House adjourned Wednesday for an Easter recess of 12 days and during that time I will be in the riding and very pleased to see any who have problems with which I can be of some help.

HOLD LAST SERVICES FOR MRS. ALLEN DENNE

Davis Leather Co. Reports Net Earnings Of $436,341

Newmarket—Net earnings of $436,341 are reported by Davis Leather Co. Ltd. for the year ended December 31, 1946, compared with $433,288 for the previous year. The net includes profit of $85,385 on sale of securities and is equal to $4.38 per share on the class A and $1.82 per share on the class B stock. For the year 1945, the profit on sale of securities was $150,692 and net earnings were equal to $4.33 a share on the class A and $1.81 on the class B shares. Operating profits of $485,378 for the period under review are up from $350,290 and income from dividends is moderately lower at $85,390. Provision for income and excess profits taxes has been increased to $208,500 from $152,000 and a reserve of $25,000 has been provided as the nucleus for the employees' pension fund.

The volume during the year was limited to approximately 80 percent of capacity because of the shortage in the supply of raw materials. In December, the rate was increased to 90 percent and, at present, has reached nearly full capacity on a one-shift basis, states J. A. Gairdner, chairman of the board. Because certain other sources of supply, other than New Zealand, were tapped in the closing months of 1946, the volume of skins for export trade was moderately above the previous year. These new sources of supply were responsible for the company reaching its current rate of operations.

Strong liquid position was well maintained with net working capital of $3,598,057 at December 31, 1946, comparing with $3,401,894 at the end of 1945. Current assets, consisting mainly of $91,755 in cash, $2,306,931 in marketable securities having a market value of $2,442,653, and $1,305,906 in inventories, totalled $4,342,877, or almost six times current liabilities of $744,820. Earned surplus at December 31, 1946, after payment of $259,808 in dividends and transferring $85,000 to investment reserve, was higher at $854,148.

SURPRISE MOTHER, SON ON BIRTHDAYS

April 3—Friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ormsby E. Smith on the evening of April 1 to surprise Mrs. Smith and wish her Happy Birthday. This was shared by her son, Leeland, whose birthday was on March 29 and who waited to celebrate his 16th birthday with his mother. After an evening spent in cards, music and friendly reminiscing, a delicious lunch was served. The table, which groaned under the weight of sandwiches, cup-cakes and ice cream, was decorated by two birthday cakes lit with candles to represent their respective birthdays. A large cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Smith's friend and neighbor, Mrs. Ivan Mann, for Mrs. Smith and a smaller one for Leeland.

The host and hostess were assisted by their daughters, Mrs. Clarence Johnson and Miss Marguerite Speller. Regarding Calf Vaccine

Herd losses through abortions caused by infection are still a serious problem to Dairy Farmers.

Calf Vaccination with live vaccine it is hoped will cut these losses. The theory is that inoculated calves build up in their bodies a resistance to the disease. Thus when they reach breeding age and become pregnant, they resist infection.

This vaccine is comparatively new. We suggest that you ask your agricultural college or experimental farm about results to date. This service is yours for the asking.

Yours for the asking, too, is this Bank's service of money. Our friendly, experienced managers are genuinely anxious to assist responsible farmers with loans for herd improvement or for other purposes that will help you to make farming more profitable.

LIBRARY CORNER

By CAROLINE E. ION

The question is often asked as to who may use the public library that the town of Newmarket provides for its citizens.

Every resident of Newmarket, regardless of whether a property-owner or a tenant, or even one who attends school in the town may become a member of the library. No membership fee or card is required.

People living out of town may become non-resident members and borrow library books by paying an annual fee of 50c or a monthly fee of 5c.

There is no restriction on the number of books (both fiction and non-fiction), that adults or high school students may borrow at one time. Although the number of books which may be borrowed from the juvenile section is officially restricted to three, this arrangement is most flexible and children, at the discretion of the librarian, are permitted to borrow more.

All books may be kept for two weeks. Magazines and newspapers are kept in the reading room and back copies of magazines are loaned for home use, just as books are loaned, for a two-week period.

A fine of five cents a week is levied on all books kept after the expiration of the allowed borrowing time.

Persons who injure or lose a book must replace it and books must be kept clean, dry and intact. Parents can assist greatly by teaching their children a proper respect and love for books which will eliminate much of this careless handling and the ripped pages.

The adult section of the library is open to borrow between the hours of 7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Thursday and Saturday, and also on Friday for 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday morning from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. The reading room is open on Tuesday evening from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., but no books may be exchanged during this time.

The boys' and girls' section is open on Friday from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. and on Saturday, from 10:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Children may exchange books any evening that the library is open between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

NEW ORLEANS WOMAN
A biographical novel of Myra Clark Gaines by Harnett T. Kane.

This novel, which is based on the strange tale of a woman who had the courage and spirit to endure a lifelong fight in an effort to clear her name, is regarded by many as the most remarkable and romantic in the nation's history. In the author's notes and acknowledgments Harnett T. Kane says that essentially he has presented as true an account as is possible to give about Myra Gaines after a 15-year extensive study of documents, legal records, etc.

The story deals with a red-headed beauty, Myra, who suddenly discovers that not only is she an adopted child, but that she has unjustly been deprived of a fortune. The fight to establish her rights provides the absorbing theme of this remarkable novel. Other books by Harnett T. Kane are: Plantation Parade and Louisiana Hayride.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Luesby (Betty Cowleson), Newmarket,

Winners of both the men's Tyro and the men's senior contests in first aid in the western area of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, this team composed of Newmarket telephone men nosed out Sudbury, which provided the stiffest opposition, to become western area champions. In close competition, they lost out for the company championship to a team from St. Lambert, Que. Left to right, J. Lawson, J. A. Brown, district plant superintendent, H. J. Brennan, captain, E. S. McElroy, J. G. Teasdale, A. J. More, S. J. Evans, A. E. Revill, plant wire chief. The trophies are on display in the Marigold store window on Main St.

BELL CO. TEAM
MEETS QUEBEC
IN FIRST AID

Newmarket—Winners of the central division tyro trophy, the western area tyro trophy, the central division open shield and the western area open trophy, six Newmarket employees of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada went to Toronto recently to meet St. Lambert, the eastern area open champions, for the Bell Co. open championship and cup for proficiency in first aid. They were Harold Brennan (captain), A. J. (Art) Moore, Stan J. Evans, Jack Teasdale, Jack Lawson (spare) and Ed McElroy (instructor). All of them are veterans under 25 except Mr. McElroy.

The competition was held at the Royal York hotel in Toronto and the St. Lambert team came out on top. The competition was followed by a banquet and the presentation of the various cups to the two finalist teams. Both teams plan to enter the St. John's Ambulance Corps dominion championships in May.

The Newmarket team captured its first two cups in the middle of December at competitions held in Newmarket. They competed against Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie (installation and repair), Sault Ste. Marie (construction), and Orillia to capture the central division tyro trophy for first-year men. On the same afternoon, they competed against London installation (western division) and Hargrave (Toronto division) and won the western area tyro championship for first-year men.

At the beginning of March, they competed against Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie (construction), Niagara Falls, Hamilton, Sault Ste. Marie (district), North Bay, Welland and St. Catharines (construction) for the central division open championship and shield, and on March 29, they competed against Toronto division (north district) and western division (Windsor) for the western area open championship and trophy.

In the tyro competitions for first-year men, Mr. McElroy acted as "the patient" while in the open competition Stan Evans played the part of the injured man. Mr. Brennan, Mr. Moore and Mr. Teasdale all have overseas service to their credit, while Mr. Moore, Mr. Brennan and Mr. McElroy have taken first aid courses before. Mr. McElroy has instructed Bell Telephone teams for over ten years. Last week he was transferred from Newmarket to Brampton but he will be a member of the team that takes part in the dominion championships.

Human Lapses

Accidents are bound to happen but these can often be prevented if the human element is fully proficient. A study of accident records would no doubt disclose that more mishaps result from human lapses than are caused by mechanical defects.

County Hog Producers
Name Rumney President

Newmarket—Following a preliminary organization meeting, the provisional directors of the hog producers from the various townships met in Newmarket on March 24 to elect their officers for 1947-48. Every township except two were represented.

Following an outline of the work to date of the Ontario Hog Producers by director Clayton Fry, Sarnia, the chairman, Dalton Rumney, Victoria Square, president of the county federation of agriculture, called on agriculture representative W. M. Cockburn to preside for the election of officers. Heber McCague, who for some time has represented York county as director on the Ontario association, was elected president and Allan Lovelace, Agincourt, vice president. Mr. Cockburn was appointed secretary-treasurer with M. L. Newroth, Sharon, as assistant.

The provisional directors making up the township committees were asked to arrange meetings of the producers in each township as soon as possible and have directors appointed by the hog producers of each municipality. Now that the Ontario Hog Producers are receiving a detailed grading statement on every hog marketed through inspected plants, every farmer can check on the grades reported to him by shippers or truckers where the grading slips have not been returned. These grading reports are being returned to the secretary of the county organizations after they are compiled by the provincial association.

Change now to NEW SHELL X-100 MOTOR OIL

Now's the time to change the oil in your car to one that will give you extra protection.

Oil failure—the actual breakdown of its protective power under the heating of sustained speed—is a comparatively new disease. To overcome it, Shell scientists—aided by war research—have produced a new kind of motor oil... an oil fortified by "X" Safety Factors. These... (1) Resist chemical change (2) Clean the engine (3) Guard against rust (4) Reduce wear and oil consumption.

See your Shell dealer this week. Get him to give your car this extra protection—(you may not need it for ordinary neighborhood driving, but for long trips it's safety insurance). May as well get a complete Summer lubrication at the same time!

Canadian Plowmen End Overseas Trip

Editor's Note: This is the last of the series of articles which Clark Young, treasurer of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, has written about the visit of Canada's champion plowmen to Britain.

Toronto—Our trip has ended and, as with most travellers, we wouldn't have missed it for the world, but we're glad to be back home again. Now it is my task to summarize the results of our tour, difficult though it is to sort out the importance of all we've seen and done.

We were in Britain in a time of crisis when the unprecedented bad weather added to all the accumulated troubles after the war. But none of us can speak too highly of the hospitality we received everywhere we went.
The British people have an unusually high regard for Canadians and this speaks volumes for the conduct of our men and women in the armed forces who were overseas during the war.

We were terribly disappointed that continuing snow and cold prevented any plowing whatever, and our hosts were equally disappointed. I believe that if Canadian plowmen make the trip next year, our British friends may arrange the matches for another time to make sure the weather will not interfere.

Another result is that Scotland's champion plowman, Bob Allen from Aberdeen, plans to compete in the International Plowing Match at Kingston, Ont., next fall. You may remember that British plowmen actually were booked to sail on the Athenia in 1939. Because of the war's outbreak their passage was cancelled and the ship was the first sunk by a Nazi submarine.

The weather was a constant hindrance to our plans and the fuel crisis meant cold hotel rooms night after night. We were to have seen the Giant's Causeway in Ireland, but snow blocked the roads. However, we managed to visit a good cross-section of England, Scotland and Northern Ireland and were able to make some conclusions about the state of British agriculture.

Longer Growing Season
In many respects farm methods in Britain are different from those in Canada. The normal rainfall in the Isles is much heavier and the growing season is much longer there. Labor is more plentiful but the farmer is hampered by the land ownership system and lack of machinery.

Because most of the farms are rented, the farmers are not in a position to modernize their buildings and so they just carry on the hard way, year after year.
The buildings are quite different from those in Canada and most of the hay and grain is put in stacks or covered sheds, requiring much more hand labor than is common in our country.

A great many tractors are used for plowing and cultivating but the majority of farmers still stick to the one horse cart for hauling their crops and for drawing out the manure. I saw one manure spreader of the wheel type. Threshing machines are still fed by hand, and without a straw blower. Some have straw bundlers on the back. The cylinders are of the rasp-bar type because the British farmer wants his straw in long lengths. Combines are on the increase, but needed machines won't be delivered for a year or more.

They use more commercial fertilizer than we do and reap heavier crops. We might learn something in that respect. The Old Country is still the fountainhead as far as beef cattle are concerned, but I believe we surpass them with our dairy cattle.

We can't compete with them in the quality of their grain for they have the longer season and more moisture. British standards, in pounds per bushel, are:
wheat, 63; barley, 56; oats, 42.
The Canadian standards are, respectively, 60, 48, and 34. In the past we have tried British seed grains and they have tried ours, but the experiments weren't successful because of the difference in growing conditions.

Some reforestation is being attempted in Britain, with trees supplied by the government for a small charge. The British do not practise contour plowing as far as I could determine from numerous inquiries.

British farmers during the war were divided into three classes —those who could run their own farms without help or advice; those who carried on with some help from government agricultural experts; and those who were poor managers to the extent that the government stepped in and replaced them with more competent men. John Wilson of Shifnal, Shropshire, told me there were only a few farmers that had to be replaced in the area where he was supervisor.
Farmers who needed advice readily accepted it and the plan worked smoothly.

Mr. Wilson also said that the farmers raised no market hogs as they did not have the grain to feed them, but depended on Canada to supply pork products.

Machinery Expensive
In general, machinery is much more expensive overseas than it is at home. Motor cars are more costly to run, the license alone 25 shillings ($5) per horsepower, and car insurance, which is compulsory, is very high. Gasoline is still rationed and the average car is allowed only 10 gallons a month.

All food is rationed with the exception of poultry and fish, which are hard to get. Meals are very expensive. All wearing apparel is rationed with the exception of hats and caps, and the allowance does not go very far.

The fuel situation, of course, is very bad, and many cities are back to the wartime blackout. In spite of all these difficulties, we heard very few complaints from the people. These are our impressions, and of course some of them may be wrong because they were gathered in only a few weeks.

We had a last few interesting days around London. On one trip we were shown through a big tire plant and saw a stable equipment factory near Reading.
The equipment was good, but too expensive for the average farmer. We saw one new machine which milks cows and pipes the milk directly to the dairy cooling system.

Another day was taken up with obtaining our passport visas and a visit to the Anglo-American Oil plant in its wartime quarters outside London on the Thames. Mr. Burgess and Frank Ellis were our hosts.

The next day brought our grand finale in London. We had dinner at the famous Simpson's restaurant in the Strand as guests of Anglo-American and Salada, and later we saw a good variety show at the Palladium theatre. The theatre was so cold we had to keep our coats on but our hotel, the South Kensington, was the warmest of the entire tour.

Next morning, Friday, we left for Southampton to board the Queen Elizabeth for the voyage home. We sailed that afternoon, and arrived in New York the following Wednesday. The weather was better than on the eastbound crossing and none of us missed a meal, although the big ship rolled a bit. Canada's champion skater, Barbara Ann Scott, and her mother had the cabin next to mine but we saw little of them because Barbara was resting after her strenuous European tour.

Trip Well Planned
Our entire trip was well planned from start to finish and all of us are grateful to the sponsors, the Salada Tea Company of Canada, Ltd. and Imperial Oil Ltd. Their representatives took excellent care of us all the way through. We are also indebted to officials of Canada House, Ontario House, and the Canadian National Railways, who took such pains to arrange our travels.

We have returned thankful that we have in Canada such a land of plenty. Our big disappointment was the lack of plowing in Britain, but we shall always remember the courage, steadfastness, and warm hospitality of the British people, and their kindness to us as we visited their cities, their farms, and their homes. The trip was well worth while and we'll never forget our experiences.

Around Town

About the men and women you meet around town almost everyday.

Herbert Malcolm Gladman should have no difficulty in obtaining his certificate of Canadian citizenship. His family has been in Canada for 149 years. His great-grandfather sailed from the Orkneys in 1798 to serve with the Hudson Bay Company and was commissioned chief trader at the York Factory in 1805. The family continued in the services of the Hudson Bay Co. for 65 years and some of the old commissions with copper plate penmanship, and the great seal of the Hudson's Bay Co., a letter dated May 8, 1834, and his grandfather's commission dated 1836 are some of Herb's souvenirs of that other age.

Later, Herb's father accepted a position with the Canadian Express Co., and for the past 75 years there has been at least one of the family in the express service.

Herb was born at Port Hope, 81 years ago. His father died 32nd was hustled across with only a few hours notice.

Eighteen months of trench warfare followed through the dubious days of 1915 and into 1916. At the Somme in September, 1916, a shell landed in the midst of a machine gun crew of which Herb was in charge. "It took the life of one of the most cheery lads who ever left Newmarket," Herb said. "His name was Jack Rowland. He and I had been chums for some months and we had often sat in the front lines and talked of Newmarket and of Toronto. We little thought that Jack would never see Newmarket again and that I would be offered work here as soon as I returned to Canada. I was struck in the neck and shoulder, but the steel helmet broke the force of the blow and after the M.D.'s in England had fished out the shrapnel healing was rapid."

Herb finished out the war as an instructor in a Canadian machine gun school at Seaford, England.

In 1918 he married Christina Carrick, a Scotch girl, and the couple had two children, Agnes and Joseph. Herb's wife passed away last October.

"On my return to Canada after being demobilized, I was offered the agency of the Canadian Express at Newmarket. I accepted and in 1921 I was appointed issuer of motor licenses by the Drury government and I am now the oldest issuer in the province."

Herb has served two terms on the town council, has been secretary-treasurer of the library board for the past ten years, and is still a member of the Veterans' Association of which he was once president. Photography and fishing are his two chief hobbies. Herb described himself as "too old and feeble to fight in the second great war, but active as a blood donor, in the Spitfire Fund, and in other ways."

By AD HULSE
HOT FROM THE GRIDDLE

John Stuart, laird of the Stuart clan (North York branch) is in England on a business trip. He took time out to view the Grand National and curiously enough his sister Jean, Mrs. Jack Babcock, Toronto, held a ticket in the race which netted her around $350. Stuart has a new maiden at Miami called Inkapoo, said to be a fair prospect. Lennie Stroud has been named to ride Butterpat, the Stuart entry in the King's Plate, but this one won't get beyond the trial for the Plate unless the records are wrong.

Photogenic by cracky! Did you catch a glimmer of those North York high school kids in a Toronto daily last week? They compared with the best anywhere and as part of a goodwill sales promotion effort, they have been employed all holidays in Toronto. Bob McEneaney, basketball and football, and Pat Dunne, basketball, represented Newmarket high. Jim McDonald, hockey and basketball, Ruth Knowles, basketball, were the Aurora nominees, while Ring Cunningham, sports reporter and hockey manager, and Pat Wilson, basketball, were the Richmond Hill choices. Six smart kids, representative of the fine crop of teen-agers of the district.

How many games does a referee work in a season? The top O.H.A. arbiters have worked close to 125-150 games this year. Mox Ressor, Markham, who has been refereeing for many years and only worked a few O.H.A. games this year, worked 70 games this year by actual count. Probably the top rating of the season in the district, although Cee Carpentier, Sutton, must be close to that figure.

Polly Minton, Victoria Square, will represent the Square in the O.H.A. all-star series. We knew this was to be but at the request of coach Ike Harper, didn't reveal the fact, but the daily press beat us to it so no damage can be done. Minton is 16, according to Harper, and he looks like a sure big leaguer. (If Mr. P. W. who thinks we are out after the Square's scalp reads this, he might comment.) The Square, now in the junior C finals, will lose Lloyd Pascoe and Runney by the age route and perhaps Campbell too. The team will be otherwise intact but you can mark it down right now that Richmond Hill will be back in junior hockey next winter and will have most of the present Square team in action plus Jack Atkinson of the Aurora defence, a mighty sweet beginning. Cecil Mabley is now in charge of the Hill rink, leaving no stones unturned to make the Hill arena pay. Junior hockey is on the books as one of the features.

Harry Holmes, who has recently purchased the Murphy business at Main St. and Davis Drive in Newmarket, should prove a valuable acquisition to the sporting fraternity in Newmarket. The respected restaurateur, who doesn't look much like an athlete, was president of Barrie Colts intermediate hockey club which bowed out in the intermediate A semi-finals to Brantford and last year was head man of the Centre Simcoe softball circuit. Five-pins, soccer and other sports have found Harry ready to lend a helping hand. We'll miss our guess if the same gent doesn't play a part in Newmarket sports this year.

Johnny Coulson, "the master of Gairlands", former Diamond Sculls and Olympic carman, was the photo subject of a series of "shots" in the D.V.A. news published at Toronto. Four smart pix, no less.

IN UNION THERE IS STRENGTH!

Now that the hockey season is ended at Newmarket, it must be obvious that canakown can only stand one intermediate hockey team. We say this with all due respect to Messrs. Molyneux, McDonald and May of the Vets and Campbell, Howard and Haskett of the Hoffman club. The whys and wherefores of two teams need not be re-hashed but financially, and by way of pleasing the hometown fans who after all pay the shot, the handwriting is on the wall. If Newmarket is to meet intermediate B competition on an equal footing and provide the district with the calibre of hockey the playing roster warrants and the public expects, the idea of two O.H.A. teams must be abandoned.

It has been somewhat of a "six-day wonder" to the fans of other towns to see the O.H.A. permit two B teams in the same municipality and we doubt that a similar example can be found in comparable centres. Frankly, even if the two teams were combined, we don't think they would have conquered Markham Millionaires but it would have been most uncomfortable for the powerful Southerners to meet one Newmarket club. As it was, the Markies skated away with ease from both the Vets and Hoffmans and civic pride on the ice lanes took a bit of a beating. Figure out, too, what the combined master-mind strength would have been and say what you will, any team that is going to place demands top-flight executives in every post. Add, say, Mutt Collings, Joe Peat, Joe Megani and one or two others to the Vets and see the difference. Drop George Stark, Myles MacInnis, Dick Perry and Bruce Stephens over the boards with Hoffmans and note the improvement. We mention these boys, not necessarily for their respective merits, but simply to illustrate our point. It might be a tough proposition to sort out the almost 30 players involved but it can be done.

We have pounded out the above at the risk of disfavor with some of our warm friends because it may be easier for someone not resident in Newmarket to say what is so obvious. Meanwhile our sincere thanks for the fine treatment we received all year from both clubs. It was a real pleasure to be associated with them and those in charge of public relations for both clubs deserve a big hand. We're only sorry the season didn't last longer but we're still in your corner.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Jack McDonald, doughty manager of the Vets, must have found his face red in that final series between Hoffmans' and Vets. Jack, before the final series, left his bakery truck to work for Bob Maguire at Hoffmans'. He solved the problem nicely by becoming chief time-keeper. Herbie Simpson, the scourge of the Hoffman forward line, was mopping his brow in the dressing room as he asked "Herbie, just how old are you?" Without batting an eye, the "mighty atom" fired back "I'll be 39 next June", and to emphasize the point, skated back from centre ice to the rail to ask if we doubted his statement. We'll leave it at that but we wonder if there is any player more active for his age than Herb. Carl Sellars, former Markham junior goalie who has been on the sidelines all year, was called upon to replace ailing Jack Harper in the Markham vs. Hoffman series. Sellars responded by scoring one shut-out and only allowing three goals in 120 minutes of hockey. The reward? Harper goes back into the cage but Sellars didn't mind a bit. A fine bit of team spirit.

ALONG THE GRAPEVINE

Leon Smith, the smart goalie of Sutton Greenshirts, has been elected president of Sutton Canadian Legion. The boys up north have had their ups and downs in getting organized but they are well on their way to getting a hall for themselves and with "Smitty" in command everything should be hunky-dory. Jack Wheeler, the tow-haired Collingwood boy who played some bang-up hockey for Newmarket camp in other years, has been picked as the best defenceman by the scribers of intermediate A circuit ranging from Owen Sound to Midland. Jack won the first spot, being picked twice for the first team, twice for the second team and missed altogether. The record was good enough to beat out any of the others. North York Vets, who made their first sports appearance this winter, are reputed to be ready to throw in a softball entry in the North Yonge league, playing their games either at Thornhill or Richmond Hill. The story is that Charlie Ryan, the former manager of Richmond Hill Roses, will handle the team and that means a good many old familiar faces will be seen. The name "Vets" will probably have more than one meaning. Ace Yake of Aurora and Borden is ready to handle or play with an Aurora team and he reports that Wilf and Ray White, Earl McDonald, Jim Emmons, Lloyd Morgan, from last year's team, are available and a new pitching sensation from Montreal is now located in the district along with several others. Gone, of course, are Red Canning, Doug Wagg, Ed McCarty and one or two others of the R.C.O.C. depot. Charlie Case, veteran catcher, now a commercial traveller, will not be available for duty this year due to his business connections. Chances are Morley Cook will be ready to play with Aurora again but the Newmarket Vets are counting on having Ed Tidman on hand to assist Bill VanZant with the mound duties this year. Yake says a good team can be assembled in Aurora and any sponsor for a softball club can find a team ready to go. The needed spots can be filled without too much trouble. But now's the time to do it. Hack Cain, still at his hockey with Hershey Bears and doing right well, is reported as ready to take a whirl in the outfield with the Newmarket Vets this year and don't be surprised if Charlie VanZant is in the line-up along with several other well known performers. The Vets would like to retain hockeyists Dick Perry and George Stark, both of whom played for Lansing last summer and were two of the smartest softballers in the circuit. They are being counted on to play down south and there would be a loud hullabaloo from the clubs south of Newmarket if their playing certificates were passed. They might just locate in Newmarket at that!

ON THE ALLEYS

Smith's Bowling Alley

With five more bowling nights left, there are only 15 points between the leading S.S.S. and the last place team in the ladies' league. The close race for top honors in this league indicates the keen competition and the swell games that have been bowled over the season.

Evelyn Smith had high single last Monday night with a grand score of 280. Marg VanZant had high three with a total of 688 (255, 227). There were several good games bowled by the girls last Monday including Floss Campbell with 635, Ada Rose (614), Ella Wilkins (566), Deane Muirhead (563).

To end its bowling season in grand style, the town bowling league held a banquet at the Legion hall and a happy time was enjoyed by all. Prizes were given to the high team and high marksmen for the season. Bowlers are to be congratulated for their showing over the season and then going on to win the championship of the league.

Don's Bowling Alley

In a challenge game last Friday evening, a team from Don's bowling alley defeated a picked team from the town league by five single points. It was a close battle all the way and but for Roy Gibson's tough break in the last frame of the last game, the decision would have gone the other way; it was that close.

Arnold Bray led the north team with a score of 802 (287, 268). Don Smith was 786 (314, 261) and Stan Smith with 671 (243, 219) were next high for the north team. Roy Gibson's score of 711 (271, 250) was high for the south team, followed by R. Wilson's total of 684 (263, 245) and Ernie Bennitz with a score of 674 (286, 235).

The keen competition that is shown in these "grudge" games has drawn many bowling fans and they will no doubt be on hand tomorrow night to watch them go to it again.

A. Peppiatt's team was high Tuesday night for the Davis League but failed by a few points to take over the league leadership from Smith's team.

Barney Revill was high three for the night with 728 (251, 257). Other good scores rolled for the evening were A. Bray, 691 (261, 250); B. Pettit, 663 (321); L. Burling, 663 (255, 223); E. Brown, 643 (263, 196); W. Cullen, 607 (216, 208); K. Tansley, 601 (325, 208); L. Forhan, 679 (243, 243).

Former Ring Champ Helps Kids Learn 'The Manly Art'

Aurora—Sponsored by the Aurora branch of the Canadian Legion and directed by William "Bill" Hadfield, former Canadian army and empire middleweight services boxing champion, Aurora youngsters are getting an opportunity to learn the manly art of self defence and get in top physical condition for summer sports.

Each Wednesday night, Mr. Hadfield will welcome all Aurora and district boys who wish to attend at 7 p.m. at the Aurora armory. A ring has been erected, punching bags, skipping ropes, wall pullers, wrestling mats, medicine ball and weights are available for use. Organized games are included on the program and there are capable, experienced assistants on hand to supervise the classes and see that no one is hurt or there is any needless roughness.

"It is only a miniature gym and not pretentious but it will serve its purpose, to give Aurora youngsters a place to learn physical culture and good sportsmanship," said Mr. Hadfield. "Parents can be assured their children will be properly looked after and that they will arrive home in good time. There are no strings attached. We are only trying to do our bit to give the kids good, clean recreation."

The first classes started last evening and there was a good attendance on hand. It is not necessary to register before attending and the equipment needed by the youngsters is negligible. All will be welcome. A parents' night is planned before the course ends.

Markham Loses First Try Against Grimsby 'Peaches'

TAKES COLLIE TOPS IN TOY DOG SHOW

Aurora — Howard Buscombe, King R.R. 3, took best-of-breed honors in the collie class with his champion, Halcyn's Heather, at the Toy Dog Breeders' of Canada show at Toronto Coliseum on Good Friday. Mr. Buscombe also won best-of-breed honors in the Shetland sheep dog class with Happy Go Lucky.

Mrs. Donald Hamilton, Aurora, was to the fore in the cocker spaniel classes with some fine entries as well. The show attracted many American entries.

After winning eight straight play-off games, Markham Millionaires dropped their first game of the O.H.A. intermediate "B" finals to Grimsby Peach Kings at Oshawa on Monday night before over 3,000 fans. Markham had been idle for ten days while the Grimsby team was fresh from its series with Sarnia and Walkerton. The score was 8-5 in the best of five series, and despite its loss Markham is confident of winning out.

The first and third periods were costly for Markham. Grimsby led 4-0 at the end of the first. Markham rammed in four straight goals to tie the count in the second, with Grimsby going ahead with seconds to go. The Millionaires tied it again at 2-2 of the final period, but faded badly as Grimsby came on to score three straight.

The game was clean with four penalties to Grimsby and one to Markham being meted out by Hurst and Heffering.

Howard Forgie of Markham juniors and coach Ernie Lawrie made a start with the team. Harry Milroy (2), Nick Bangay, Jackie Watson and Bob Lawrie were the scorers.

WHYNOT TAKES CROWN WHYNOT ANOTHER BOUT?

Newmarket—Len Wadsworth, former trainer for Newmarket camp hockey team and former Canadian middleweight boxing titleholder, journeyed down to Nova Scotia to defend his crown against an unknown billed as Roger Whynot. The result? Wadsworth lost his crown to the youngster from Lunenburg, N.S., by decision and in place of caviar and champagne, now is in the doughnuts and coffee class. Wadsworth, it says here, is but 30 years of age. Roger has yet to defend his title and "Whynot" is the cry of Wadsworth and his manager.
